SUTCLIFFE'S 1000 RUNS

Scores 270 Against Sussex.
OXFORD BLUE REGISTERS TWO SEPARATE CENTURIES.

GLOUCESTER BEATEN.

HENDREN RETURNS WITH 119
AND GOLFER SCORES 155.

Derby Recover Splendidly.

London, Yesterday.

Herbert Sutcliffe has again astounded the Cricket world with an innings of 270 scored against Sussex. This follows in the trail of 313 against Essex, 110 not out and 96 against the South, and gives him 789 runs for once out in four innings. As he had scored 401 runs up to May 28, he is the first batsman to score 1,000 runs this season.

Another Test Cricketer who was in form was K. S. Duleepsinhji, who followed up his 128 against the North with 83 and 91 against Yorkshire.

Glemorgan caused a mild sensation by defeating Gloucestershire by two wickets and for their second victory they were indebted to Jack Mercer and Maurice Turnbull, the latter player following up his 95 against Warwickshire with a sparkling 119. C. C. Dacre, the New Zealander, followed up his 109 against Notts with an undefeated 111, but his big effort for Gloucestershire proved unavailing.

Brown and Mead stood in the way of a Lancashire victory at Portsmouth and Hampshire were in a strong position at the close of play.

Hendren Scores 119.

Middlesex thanks to Hearne and Hendren, who made a welcome return after his weeks of inactivity due to a damaged hand, were able to amass the useful total of 404 and force Derbyshire to follow on 161 runs in arrears. Derby, however, recovered magnificently as the result of dogged batting by Smith and Storer, and at the close of play were 176 runs in the lead with six wickets in hand.

Crawley's Return.

L. G. Crawley, the English amateur ex-champion golfer, signalled his return to first-class cricket with a brilliant 155 against Warwickshire, and was largely responsible for the Essex win by 220 runs. Nichols was in good form, his fast bowling claiming 7 cheap wickets.

Ratcliffe's Distinction.

A. T. Ratcliffe who scored a century against the M.C.C. earlier in the season was in splendid form against Surrey registering a century in both innings. Cambridge, however, had to be content with a draw, being 254 runs ahead with five wickets in hand.

Brooke's Third Century.

B. H. J. Brooke, who is in magnificent form this season, scored his third century of the season when he hit up 140 against the M.C.C. at Lord's. Thanks to his fine effort Oxford gained a meritorious victory by 111 runs.

BRITISH SUCCESSES AT WIMBLEDON

H.W. AUSTIN EXTENDED BY FERET

MRS. GODFREE'S COMEBACK CHECKED

JIRO SATOH DEFEATS HANS TIMMER.

Wimbledon, Yesterday.

Before a packed gallery on the Centre Court to-day Bunny Austin, one of the British hopes, defeated Paul Feret, one of France's leading players, after four gruelling sets. Austin, however, was off-colour, while the Frenchman was stroking splendidly.

Jiro Satoh, who is launching a determined assault on the Wimbledon title, played like a champion to-day when he eliminated Hans Timmer, the Dutch ace, in straight sets. Satoh's deep driving and accurate smashing completely overwhelmed Timmer. Japanese supporters are optimistic regarding Satoh's chances in spite of his defeat in the semi-final of the London Championships by Jack Crawford, the Australian champion.

Easy for Helen. Mrs. L. A. Godfree (nee Kitty McKane and a former Wimbledon champion) proved no match for Mrs. Willis-Moody and won only three games in the two sets.

The British player has not been participating in competitive tennis for a considerable time and her defeat occasioned no surprise.

Dorothy Round's Brilliance. Dorothy Round, who fared so poorly in the Wightman Cup match, was in magnificent form to-day when she defeated Mlle. Metaxa, one of the French hopes, in straight sets. The French player was the favourite for this match as she had been credited with a victory over Miss Margaret Scriven at Auteuil. The British player, however, rose to great heights throughout the game and never at any time allowed her opponent the slightest (Continued on Page 14.)

SIR JOHN SIMON IN HOUSE.

Hoover's Proposals Under Discussion.

CONFERENCE AT GENEVA ON MONDAY.

Lausanne Talks Continued.

London, Yesterday. The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, attended a meeting at the House of Commons, when, it is understood, Mr. Hoover's disarmament proposals were under consideration.

On his return to Geneva Sir John Simon will enter upon consultations with the French and the United States delegates.

The French War Minister, M. Paul Boncour, is at present in Paris consulting his colleagues, but both Ministers will return to Geneva during the weekend and a Conference will take place on Monday.

Germany's Position. The conversations at Lausanne between the French Prime Minister, M. Herriot, and German Chancellor, Herr Von Papen, for which the ground had been prepared by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's negotiations yesterday with M. Herriot, began arranged, this morning.

The two statesmen were alone during the early part of the interview, and later conversations were continued with their Ministerial colleagues and experts in attendance. A communique stated that after the German Finance Minister, Herr Von Krosigk had presented a detailed statement of the economic and financial position of Germany, the meeting adjourned. The conversations were resumed this evening.—British Wireless Service.

FAIR TO SHOWERY.

The weather report issued by the Royal Observatory at 10.05 a.m. to-day, states:—Depressions are situated over Tonking and in the Sea of Japan, to the North-west of Tokyo. Forecast: South-west wind, moderate; fair to showery.

MR. STRELLETT WITHDRAWS FROM DEFENCE.

Accused Remanded.

Mr. D. L. Strellett who appeared for Chiu Yung Sham, a chauffeur of Disney Villas, Victoria Road, on a charge of the possession of a revolver and three rounds of ammunition, in the Central Police Court on Thursday, withdrew from the case before Mr. Wynne-Jones this morning.

Accused, who was arrested on Monday last, whilst driving his master through the streets of the city, is a native of Shanghai, and is alleged to be implicated in the murder of George Fung.

UNVEILING OF "WARRIORS' CHAPEL" IN WESTMINSTER.

IN MEMORY OF "THE MILLION DEAD."

London, Yesterday. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales to-day unveiled in Westminster Abbey the new chapel to the memory of "The million dead." The shrine which is close to the "Unknown Warriors grave" is to be called the "Warrior's Chapel."

An anonymous donor who died some months ago contributed half the cost of the chapel and the balance was collected in pennies from mothers of the British Empire who lost sons in the Great War.

Members of mother's unions of all parts of the world were present in the congregation which was comprised mainly of women.

PERKINS LEADS

Wizard Golf in the Second Round.

JOSE JURADO ALSO ON TOP.

Sarazen's Hope for "Double" Not So Bright.

OLIN DUTRA DISAPPOINTS.

Flushing, L.I., Yesterday.

Phil Perkins, the former British Amateur Champion and now the "business man golfer," as the result of brilliant play in the second round is now in the lead in the American Open Golf Championship. He played superb golf to return a card for 69 for an aggregate score of 145. Jose Jurado, the Argentine champion, by returning a card for 71 tied with Perkins for first place.

Sarazen after brilliant play yesterday showed signs of reaction to-day and was only able to return a card for 76 for an aggregate score of 150 to secure sixth position. His chances for the "double" are now not quite so bright.

Olin Dutra, whose golf yesterday was superb, fell away badly to-day to return a 77. Leo Diegel maintained his consistency, but Walter Hagen improved on yesterday's showing to come fifth with 148.

The following were the leading scores at the conclusion of the second round:—

MACAO RACE MEETING TO-MORROW

JINGO IN FORM

(By WOMBAT)

There is certain to be a great gathering of racegoers at the final meeting of the Macao Race Club which will take place at Area Preta Macao to-morrow afternoon. The first race is advertised to commence at 2 p.m. sharp.

Nowhere is racing enjoyed under such ideal conditions as at this famous little racecourse and the entries for the meeting are far in excess of any experienced during the present season of racing.

This should be quite sufficient to attract a big crowd but the Macao Racing Committee have gone one better for this meeting and have secured the services of the Brunswick Jazz Orchestra to enliven proceedings between the two parts. I am also informed that some members of a local concert party will give an entertainment which will embrace singing, dancing and sketch items.

Racing prospects look good as 80 entries have been received and as the handicapper has done his best to keep the runners together I am sure we shall see some very close contests during the afternoon.

Owing to this being the last race meeting of the first half of the season the Committee have confined the events to mostly sprint events and every race will be run under the mill.

The Colwyn Stakes and the Stewards Cup both over a distance of six furlongs are the two principal races on the card and are confined to Macao Subscription ponies.

BRITISH LABOUR PARTY SPLIT

I. L. P. GROUP REBEL AFTER FRICTION

WILL SEVER CONNECTION

MAXTON'S EXTREMISTS TO MEET
ON JULY 30.

London, To-day.

A split in the British Labour ranks that may be fraught with far-reaching effects on the Party's future, has been brought about by the decision of the vigorous and militant Independent Labour Party to sever its connection with the National Labour Party and form a completely independent political organisation, to which, no doubt, many of the malcontents in the Labour Party will be attracted.

The Independent Labour Party has convoked a Conference on July 30.

The leader of the Independent Labour Party is Mr. James Maxton, with Mr. George Buchanan as his right hand man.

When Mr. Ramsay MacDonald left the Labour ranks, he was succeeded by Mr. Arthur Henderson as leader of the Labour Party, but the latter was defeated in the last elections, and the present Parliamentary leader is Mr. George Lansbury.

FLOOD THREAT IN CENTRAL CHINA.

Siang River Overflows.

RAILWAY MAY BE INUNDATED.

Hankow, To-day. Information from Railway circles says that the Siang River, in North Hunan, has overflowed. This will bring the first of the floods which have been threatening by the continuous rise of the rivers in Central China.

The road-bed of the Wuchang-Changsha Railway in many places is under water, and the entire railway is threatened with inundation. All road traffic between Changsha and Chenchow, in South Hunan, has been forced to suspend.

In Kiangsi, the Kan River continues to rise, and already three haies—Hsiakiang, Changshu and Fengcheng—have been converted into lakes. Both of the above-mentioned floods have destroyed crops. Ironically, reports from North China state that along the Yellow River the cereal crops are almost a total failure, due to lack of rain.—Reuter.

INTEREST CENTRED ON INDIA DEBATE.

Dual Policy May Be Reviewed on Monday

SIGNIFICANCE OF COMMONS DISCUSSION.

London, Yesterday.

A special interest attaches to Monday's debate on India in the House of Commons, for the administrative side, the six months' period for ordinances is about to lapse, and on the constitutional side, the various travelling committees of the Indian Round Table Conference have now completed their work.

It is expected that Sir Samuel Hoare, the Secretary for India will review the present for the maintenance of the prestige of the Government and the enforcing of law and order and for a constitutional advance on the lines of the All India Federation set out by the Government early in December. ## REVOLUTION IN SIAM

Coup By the Army and Navy.

SOME OFFICERS STILL HELD.

All Over After 12 Hours' Excitement.

CONSTITUTIONAL MONARCHY
FORMED UNDER KING.

A revolution in which the Army and Navy acted in conjunction, has broken out in Siam, but Bangkok announces to-day that the revolution was over almost as soon as it had started, and a constitutional monarchy under the King has been established.

When Berlin first announced the revolution, the news was surprising as King Prajadhipok is extremely popular with his subjects.

News from Bangkok indicates that the revolution was not directed against the King but rather against the form of Government in the country, and now that a constitutional monarchy has been established with the King as Head, it is reasonable to expect that peace will be restored in Siam.

High Officials Held.

Bangkok, To-day. Several Princes, Ministers, and High Officials are still being held as prisoners in the Palace, as the result of a revolution here.

The Chief of the General Staff is reported to have been killed. Following the revolt by the Army and Navy, a Constitutional Monarchy under King Prajadhipok was established in the afternoon.

The First Report.

Berlin, Yesterday. It is reported from Bangkok that a revolution has broken out in Siam. The royal family are being held prisoners in the palace. The Siamese Government has telegraphed to the Vossische Zeitung from Bangkok.—Reuter.

ANGLO-IRISH DEADLOCK.

Free State Refuses
Commonwealth Tribunal

ON LAND ANNUITIES.

Will Not Pay Until Formal Demand is Made.

London, To-day. The Free State Cabinet has refused Mr. J. H. Thomas's demand that the question of land annuities be judged by a Commonwealth Tribunal and it was decided not to take any action against the payment of the annuities, which is due on June 30, until the Free State received Mr. Thomas's formal demand.—Reuter.

The question of the land annuities, along with that of the Oath of Allegiance, was discussed between representatives of the British Government and of the Irish Free State first in Dublin and later in London, but it was found impossible to reach any agreement, although, according to Mr. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, the conversations were carried out in excellent good humour.

IRAQI REBEL SHEIKH CAPTURED IN TURKEY

One of Britain's "Little Wars" Ended.

Bagdad, To-day. One of Great Britain's "little wars" has ended, momentarily at least, with the capture of Sheikh Ahmed, of Barzan, who has been stirring trouble in Iraq. British troops drove Ahmed across the Turkish border where he surrendered to Turkish officials.

New Evening Modes

Backless Gowns Popular

A broad-shouldered appearance is necessary this season, as width at the shoulders is the newest and most fashionable effect, being used on the most formal gowns, as well as the military top-coat and suits of tailored cut.

Evening gowns have adopted the broadshouldered effect, and tiny sleeves, berthas, and fichus are again in the mode for dance frocks, dinner gowns, and theatre wear. Although the shoulders and tops of the arms are covered with brief sleeves, it does not mean that the backless décolletage is not seen. On the contrary, it is more fashionable than ever, some of the new evening gowns being backless to the waist, while the arms are covered with a broad strap of the material on which diamante or rhinestones sparkle. This is a style eminently suited to heavy satins or velvets, gowns of such soft materials as chiffon, georgette, and lace adopting the fichu or berthas of the same frock, extending from the V neck in front, crossing over the arms to form tiny shoulder capes, and ending at the waist at the back, where the ends of the fichu are sometimes tied in a bow, or in long ends to form a sash. This offers a practical or georgette frock up to date, for a fichu of georgette of a contrasting colour might be added, as colour contrasts are fashionable this winter for evening as well as day wear. If the fichu is long enough to tie at the back of the waist, and have sash ends hanging to the hem of the gown, a very smart effect would be created, especially if shoes and accessories were worn to match the colour of the fichu.

The square-necked frock uses tiny, puffed sleeves in the period style to gain its width at the shoulders. Satin gowns, with yokes and sleeves of fine lace in the same tint, are among the smartest of the season. This is a fashion much favoured for white satin bridal gowns, but it looks equally well in black and neutral-tinted satins.

ANKLE BEAUTY.

"Ankles and legs are more important than faces," was the remark of a beauty specialist whose Mayfair salons are thronged just now with debutantes undergoing ankle treatments.

Exercises do much to reduce the lumpy ankle, which may be the heritage of hockey at school, and, although legs and knees are hidden beneath longer skirts, women are thinking of the holiday when they will be revealed.

Wax baths are being given to make the legs smooth and white under fine gauge silk stockings. Bony knees are massaged with a fattening skin food. Too plump knees are rolled.

Silver and gold painted, half-moons on the toes are an amusing fantasy that some of the very young are indulging in.

Beautiful Evening Clothes

The New Diagonal Neck-Line Grey In Favour For Morning Wear

Jackets Will Vary Little

Evening clothes are beautiful this season. Necklines are new, silhouettes vary, and materials are original. Every woman wears what suits her, without thinking, or causing her friends to think, that she is not quite smart because she is not in uniform.

One evening gown will have the bodice arranged with a fitted corselet above the waist, and a cowl neck in front, the cowl cut away on the shoulders to little draped straps. Another will have the cowl front, but a narrow cross-over back. Then there is the bib frock, the skirt of which is full at the hem and narrow above the knees. The front of the bodice fits over it at the waist, and has long scarf panels, which cross at the back, fold round to the front again, and are tied in a neat bow. The neck-line is a rather high V, and the top points of the V pass round the neck to the back, where they are tied in a long bow, just like a baby's bib.

Again, there are bodices with the new diagonal neckline, leaving one shoulder well covered, and the other shoulder bare but for the slender strap which holds the slanting side of the bodice.

Sleeves in the Evening.

It is possible to wear sleeves in the evening without being called a "dowd." But of course the sleeves are the newest! A slim satin gown will have an inset yoke of flesh-coloured chiffon, and into this will be set small puffs and long fitting sleeves of the satin. This is a dinner or theatre gown; it would not be comfortable for dancing.

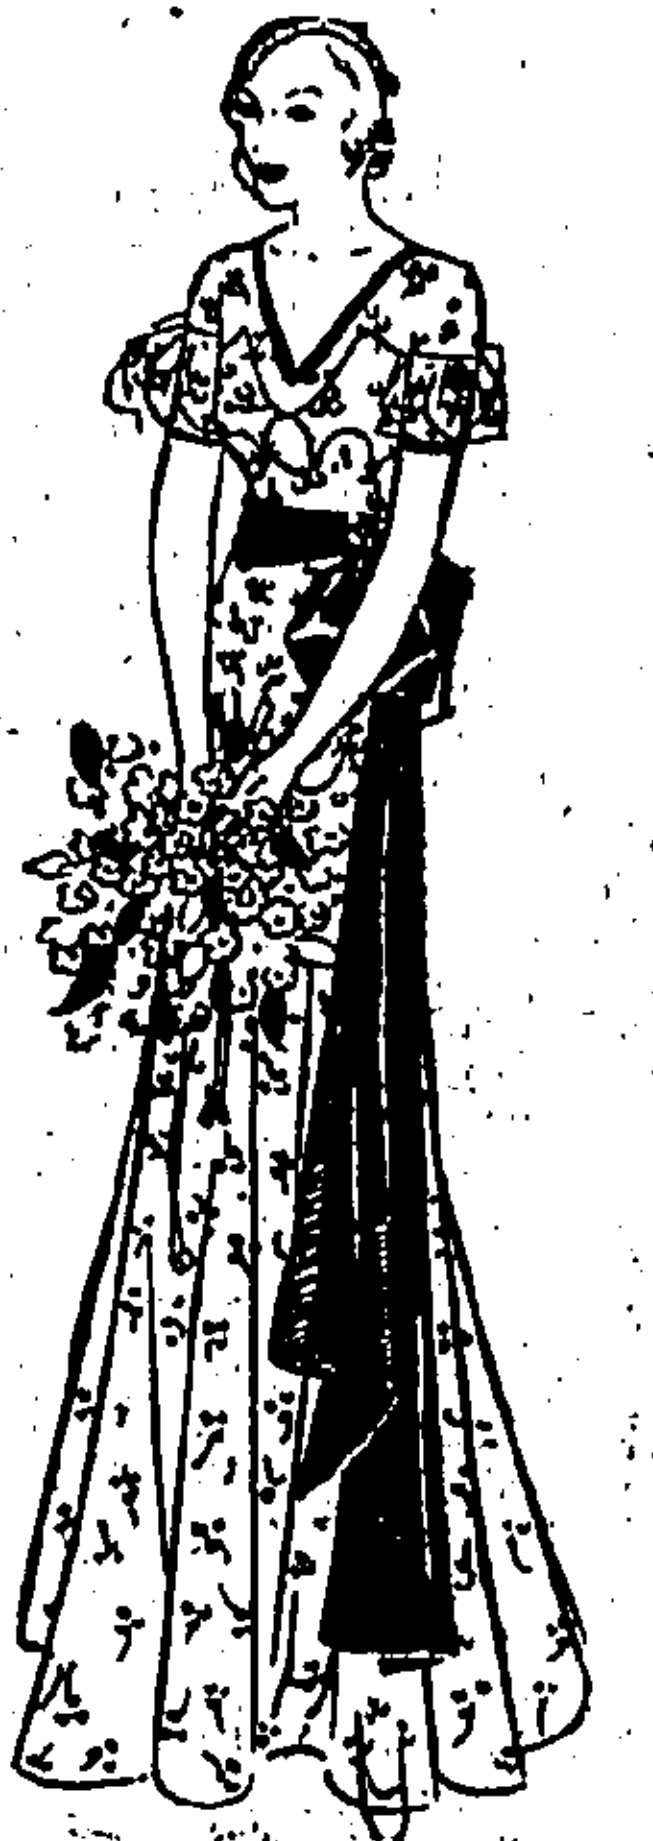

A dance frock, of satin, marocain, crepe-de-chine or lace, can have long sleeves, not too fitted for comfort, of fine net embroidered with gleaming beads. Or it can have an inset deep yoke, with a draped front and long puffed sleeves, all of delicately flowered nylon to tone with the foundation material. One most useful and attractive gown was made of black fine lace, with yoke of green and silvery-white nylon.

A gown of pale green crepe-de-chine, with gay stiffened epaulettes over the shoulders, has funny little baby sleeves of killed cream chiffon peeping from beneath the epaulettes.

The very large puffs, set into a low-cut bodice are not so fashionable as at the beginning of the season, but in a tiny jacket to put on with the gown they are quite good.

Some Colour Thought.

All designers this season are determined to make us relinquish our beloved, black clothes. So lovely little suits and frocks are made of soft tweeds and finest light-weight woolens in badana yellow, brass, and copper yellow, pistache green, and early-morning blue. This blue, by the way, is a favourite colour, the soft, bright blue of an early Summer sky. And then there is violet. Last year we were offered violet, but hardly any one wore it. This season we are going to wear deep violet marocain or wool voile frocks under straight plain coats of wool in the same colour. Touches of black-and-white, or pale orchid pink, relieve this shade, which is only "trying" to those who do not use the correct tones of powder and lipstick. Quite a lot of violet is used for evening.

Grey is certainly back in favour, especially for morning wear. Very attractive suits of soft grey flannel are to be worn in the mornings.

The jackets will vary a little. Some will be cut on Eton lines for young women; others will be in a glorified cardigan style. There will be tiny tucks in the back, at the waist, to fit the coat to the figure, the fronts will be fastened with four buttons in a line, the opening will be wide and outlined with very narrow revers, shaped to form an oval, which will show the blouse.

Other jackets are quite formal, in the tailor-made fashion that will never go out. The only difference is that they are not so long as formerly.

Edinburgh University were unlucky in the weather for their annual sports at Craiglockhart this afternoon, heavy rain falling for several hours prior to the start of the programme. The track, despite careful attention, was very heavy, a circumstance which precluded any possibility of exceptional performance.

There was a long programme of championship events as well as women's and confined events, and this season the University were in the happy position of possessing challenge cups for every championship item except the new one, the 440 yards hurdles, which was raised to full status for the first time this season.

In addition there were the Rosebery Challenge Cup for points in all championship events (holder, R. M. Mackay), and the Australasian Cup for the two sprints, the hurdles, and the two jumps (holder, F. P. Reid, not a competitor, this season).

BOXING.

Larry Gains Beats Primo Carnera In London.

Giant Italian Too Slow And Cumbrous

ITALIAN'S HANDS ENCASED IN WHITE GLOVES AND NEGRO'S IN BLACK.

CAUTIONED FOR ELBOW PLAY

London, May 31.

A crowd of over 70,000 people were present at the White City Stadium when Larry Gains, the coloured British Empire Champion, out-boxed, out-generalled and out-witted Primo Carnera, the giant contender for the heavyweight crown, to gain a points decision after ten three-minute rounds.

Carnera was slow and almost lamb-like. Absent, even, was that ferocious grin accentuated by his gum-shield with imitation teeth. Never for a moment did there appear any likelihood of the Italian breaking loose and staking everything upon a vicious onslaught such as he revealed against Young Stribling two or three years ago at the Royal Albert Hall.

Gains's 1st., like that of McCorquindale, who had forestalled him unsuccessfully a few weeks ago, was not nearly enough to make it a really good match physically, but he was able to introduce into the contest two important things which the South African had lacked—the quality of speed and a first-class negro boxer's cunning in countering. Obviously, unless Gains wished to feel repeatedly the full weight of Carnera's short-arm blows, he must box for openings. Gains may or may not have been surprised that his huge opponent decided to do much the same thing, but he certainly can have obtained little satisfaction in the affair of long lefts that occupied most of the 10 rounds. Allowing for the fact that Carnera still is very inclined to box with the open glove and to cuff instead of punch, it was clear enough, to the writer at any rate, that Carnera's left hand, shot out to the full extent, reached more to the face many more times than the swifter flashes of Gains. Carnera's hands, it should be added, were encased in white gloves and the negro's in black, and many an argument followed as to the wisdom and fairness, or otherwise, of this arrangement.

Italian's Failing.

Where Carnera failed, however, and Gains won was in the general impression created by the boxing. Carnera boxed at times with remarkable balance and skill for such a huge man, but in the sudden clashes that introduced most of the excitement he was cumbrous and slow, whereas Gains's brilliant rights, few and far between as they were and of little more than an irritant in effect, never failed to "bring down the house." At first Gains tried to force Carnera to think more of his stomach than his jaw, but the giant was steadiness itself in the sparring. Gains early on reached home with a right, but, as usual, happens when Carnera is concerned, such blows are of little avail—in fact, tend to lead to severe reprisals at close quarters—unless followed up with the utmost speed and determination. Carnera, in fact, replied vigorously enough to each attack, hammering Gains's ribs with the right and half-beating through his guard with short-arm jabs and upper-cuts. A monster elbow also was bought into play once or twice and for that Carnera was cautioned in the fifth round. Does Not Force the Pace. Judging by what occurred when he did so, it was surprising that Carnera more often did not force the pace and go in to fight. His enormous advantage in height and reach enabled him to stand over his man, and the difference in punching power was terrific whenever he let fly and landed the kind of punch that was not mere gymnasium work. The temperament of a giant, however, is not that of a Jack Dempsey, and Carnera, except at intervals, was quite content to hold his own comfortably in the exchange of lefts. This amiable content no doubt cost him the fight.

Little to Choose.

Every now and then, as in the sixth round, for instance, Gains sprang in successfully, and, by unbalancing his huge opponent for a few thrilling moments, created the atmosphere that spells success if the opponent is not roused to an even bigger counter-effort. Carnera did once or twice threaten to pulverize his man, but he never kept up the effort, and, in any case, must have to anyone who did not feel the effect of his jabs and upper cuts less swift and deadly than Gains. Still, there was little in the actual scoring of points, and in the last round, though Carnera met one of Gains's rushes with a short-arm blow that all but produced the first knock down, he was unable to rouse himself to the kind of final effort that might have saved him an adverse decision.

60,000 See Yankees Sweep Double Bill

BASEBALL'S GREATEST CROWD OF YEAR SEES RUTH HIT TWO HOME RUNS.

Senators Beaten.

New York, May 22. Professional baseball's greatest crowd of the year anywhere, about 60,000, saw the triumphal finish of the Yankees' five-game, first-place series with Washington yesterday at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees won both contests of the double-header, 14 to 2 and 8 to 0, and gained a lead of two and a half games over the Senators.

Responding to the stimulus of the season's highest attendance, the Yankees staged a slugging exhibition. Babe Ruth hit two home runs, his ninth and tenth of the season, both in the first game. The first of these was the stroke that decided the contest's result, coming with the bases filled in the fifth inning and the score at the moment favouring Washington, 2 to 1.

Yankees Hit Five Homers. Lazzeri and Gehrig likewise hit homers into the right-field bleachers in the initial combat, while the day's fifth and final Yankee four-bagger was second only to Ruth's first one for dramatic appeal.

John Allen, young Yankee right-hander, broke up his own scoreless mound duel with Alvin Crowder in the second game by driving the ball into the bleachers with two on bases in the second inning.

The paid attendance was 58,184, nearly three thousand more than paid for stadium seats April 20, when the all-home opening of the Yankee season gathered together baseball's largest crowd of the year before yesterday. The total attendance for the three-day series with Washington, about 117,000, set a season's record for one series.

Yesterday's turnout, however, was well below the 1931 peak of 80,408, recorded on April 19, as well as the all-time stadium record of 85,265, set September 9, 1923.

Pitching Also a Factor.

The Yankees' slugging was fortified far beyond the necessary degree with masterful pitching by the noted veteran, Herb Pennock, and the sensational North Carolina youngster, John Allen.

Allen registered the second shut-out of his brief major league career. Lazzeri led the field again in batting, with two doubles besides his homer in the first game, and a triple and two singles in the afterpiece. Ruth, though hitless in the nightcap, was the day's leading run driver, on the strength of three hits sent across by his two homers.

Until Ruth fired his first homer, the first game's south-paw duel between Pennock and Alvin Crowder was a draw, about 117,000, set a season's record for one series. Yesterday's turnout, however, was well below the 1931 peak of 80,408, recorded on April 19, as well as the all-time stadium record of 85,265, set September 9, 1923.

LIM BONG-SOO WINS FOR THIRD YEAR.

Singles Championship of Singapore.

Singapore, June 17. By winning the singles section of the Singapore lawn tennis championships last night for the third season in succession Lim Bong Soo, the Chinese player, became the winner outright of the cup for that section. He defeated Lye Kwang Chun in two straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

His victory was well deserved. He showed a definite superiority in most phases of the game, but it was mainly his uncannily accurate placing that won him the match. Lye Kwang Chun played a splendid game, and perhaps deserved a little more fortune so far as netted returns were concerned; he showed an unhappy knack of putting the ball into the net time after time at the end of a long and hard rally. The play was confined mainly to long driving from base to base, and it was there that Bong Soo's placing told its tale. He kept his opponent on the move most of the time, and cleverly anticipated the direction of most of his returns, so that he almost forced Kwang Chun into the ultimate misjudgement which caused him to forfeit the points.

The game was a model of good tennis, and afforded remarkable testimony of the value of developing the back-hand. That stroke has, in fact, been markedly responsible for the success of the Chinese players in both sections of the tournament. In Bong Soo and Kwang Chun we had two of the cleverest exponents of back-hand play in the whole of the field.

Lye Kwang Chun fought back brilliantly all the time, and there was a time when there seemed every likelihood of his forcing the match into the third set for decision. But he showed a tendency to ease up in his finishing, and Bong Soo snatched two or three games out of the fire through playing back at him in the later stages of a game.

At the conclusion of the match Sir William Morrison complimented Lim Bong Soo on his third triumph in the tournament, and said the cup would now become his personal property in accordance with custom. The feature of this year's tournament had been the success of the Chinese players, and although he hoped it would not be so too often he was glad to see them having their fair share of the spoils.

Lady Morrison presented the prizes as follows:
Winner, Lim Bong Soo.
Runner-up, Lye Kwang Chun.
Doubles.
Winners, Chai Oon Leong and Yoon Long Chon.
Runner-up, Dr. H. O. Hopkins and Roy Smith.

Crawford Wins Tennis Title In London.

Also Partners Hopman To Win Doubles Title

SIX NATIONS REPRESENTED IN THE FOUR FINALS.

BRITISH LADIES' WIN

London, June 18.

Jack Crawford, Australia's No. 1 ranking player defeated Hans Timmer, the Dutch champion in the final of the London Tennis Championship at Queen's Club to-day in four sets.

In his semi-final game Crawford beat Jiro Satoh, a much famed competitor after a ding dong struggle. Timmer beat K. C. Gandar Dower, the Light Blue player.

Crawford followed up his singles success by winning the Men's Doubles in partnership with Harry Hopman. The Australian Davis Cup proved far superior to Satoh and Miki, whom they beat in straight sets.

London, June 17. The champions of Australia and the Netherlands will meet to-morrow afternoon for the London City grass court singles championship, at the Queen's Club.

Before a crowded gallery to-day, Jack Crawford eliminated Jiro Satoh after a keen struggle. The score was 5-7, 6-4, 6-3. The Japanese fought the Australian every inch of the way, offering the sternest opposition for every point.

In the other semi-final, Hans Timmer, the young champion of Holland, defeated Gandar Dower.

Women's Singles.
Mrs. Dorothy Burke, of Stamford, Conn., and the new tennis sensation, Mlle. Jedzejowska, the Polish champion, will contest the women's championship to-morrow. The Polish girl only became known this season, when she beat Miss Helen Jacobs in the German championships. She disposed of Fraulein Krahwinkel this afternoon in easy fashion.

Women's Doubles.
There will be an Anglo-American final in the women's doubles, Mrs. L. R. C. Mitchell and Miss Dorothy Round qualifying to-day to meet Mrs. L. A. Harper and Miss Sarah Palfrey (America).

Men's Doubles.
The two Japanese Davis Cup players, R. Miki and Jiro Satoh, will meet the Australians, J. Crawford and Harry Hopman, in the final of the men's doubles.

A unique feature of the championships this season is that six nations will be represented in the four finals to-morrow. Australia is favoured to carry off both men's events, while Poland is expected to capture the women's singles. The only very open event will be the women's doubles, which is expected to produce a close struggle. The two teams are very evenly matched.

The London tennis championships were concluded at the Queen's Club to-day.

J. Crawford, the Australian champion, won the men's singles championship, defeating Hans Timmer, the champion of Holland, by 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Mrs. Burke (America) captured the women's singles title, defeating the Polish champion, Mlle. Jedzejowska, by 1-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The men's doubles resulted in another Australian victory, Hopman and Crawford easily defeating the Japanese Davis Cup couple, Miki and Jiro Satoh. The score was 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Miki (Japan) and Miss Dorothy Round defeated Mr. and Mrs. Crawford in the final of the Mixed Doubles by 6-4, 1-6, 8-6, while the women's doubles went to the British players, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Round, who beat Mrs. Harper and Miss Sarah Palfrey (America) by 6-0, 6-3.

World Records Smashed

ATHLETIC FEATS ON EVE OF OLYMPIAD.

30,000 Metres Record for Argentine.

HURDLES AND SPRINT TIMES EQUALLED.

Lovelock in Demand.

Berkeley, Cal., May 21.

Bullet-Bob Kiesel, University of California sophomore sprint sensation, gained a measure of revenge to-day for an earlier beating from his keenest rival which he defeated Frank Wykoff of Southern California in the 100-yard dash of the annual California intercollegiate. The time was 9.5 seconds, equaling the accepted world record.

Kiesel came from behind with a burst of speed that carried him to victory by a yard over the Trojan ace, who is an applicant for a new world record of 9.4.

Wykoff's entry was a last-minute affair and wholly against the wishes of his coach, Dean Cromwell, and Dr. W. E. Fleener, team physician.

The Trojan sprinter has been ailing several weeks with a strained back muscle. For this reason he withdrew from the 220-yard dash earlier in the week and at that time it was stated no decision as to his appearance in the hundred would be made until just before the event.

now than his mark of 46.4, now up for recognition as a new world's record.

Southern California scored 85 1-8 points to win its third straight title. Stanford was second with 42 5-6, California third with 27 2-3 and the University of California at Los Angeles next with 9 1-3.

30,000-Metres Record.
Buenos Aires, May 23.

The Argentine runner, Ribas, to-day set up a new world's record for the 30,000 metres, by covering the distance in one hour, 40 minutes 57 3-5 seconds.

The previous record was held by a compatriot of Ribas, Juan Zabala, who in Vienna last year broke the record of the Finn, V. Sipila, with a time of 1 hour 42 minutes 31 1-5 seconds.

Lovelock for Los Angeles?
Wellington, June 1.

Efforts are being made here to secure the inclusion of the Oxford runner, J. E. Lovelock, who last week set up a British record for the mile in 4 min. 12 sec., in the New Zealand team for the Olympic Games.

The New Zealand A.A. has offered to guarantee Lovelock's expenses for the trip and a request has been made to the Olympic Council to include him in the team.—Reuters.

World Records Equalled.
Cambridge, Mass., June 18.

In the course of trials for the approaching Olympic Games at Los Angeles, Emmett Topping, a Loyola University student, to-day equalled the world 100-metres sprint mark of 10.4 sec. Percy Beard, of the New York Athletic Club, equalled the world high hurdles record of 14.4 sec.

Gene Yeakey established a new American sprint mark of 1:40.0 metres for the 1,000 metres, by beating the Illinoiser, J. J. Minick, in 1:40.0. The world mark is 1:39.2.

Shock For Shanghai "Trade Unionism"

Telephone Co's Action Meets With Approval

SIDELIGHTS ON THE AGITATOR

ROMANCE OF THE HARDOON MILLIONS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, June 18.

A crushing blow has been administered to trade unionism of the Shanghai brand by the dignified, but incisive, reply transmitted by the Telephone Company to the unreasonable and extravagant demands of the striking mechanics.

Whilst the Company categorically repudiates the suggestion that it contemplates the employment of White Russians to supplant Chinese, it states with equal emphasis that the Union cannot be recognised and the workers are asked to return on the basis that any legitimate grievance they might have will receive due consideration.

That is as far as the Company is prepared to go and its decision is hailed by those representing the best thought in the community, both foreign and Chinese, as eminently practical, even though it may entail some loss and inconvenience for some time, but not all of the time, as would be the case if the Company capitulated to the coercion of the workers.

Those workers who were guilty of deliberate sabotage and wanton damage to the Company's machinery are not to be taken back in any event and this will exert a good moral effect on the workers of other public utility concerns who will thus be taught that resort to hooliganism does not pay in the final analysis.

Seeking the Source.

The best brains among the Shanghai Municipal Police are now engaged in tracking down the real source of the labour agitation which has lately been disturbing this city. This is a type of ne'er-do-well among the Chinese riff-raff who thrives on turmoil and disorder just as the bootlegger in the United States finds not a little profit in prohibition.

These loafers and bad characters in Shanghai are as averse to seeing a prolonged era of industrial peace here as the "moon-shiners" of America would hate to see the Eighteenth Amendment erased from the Statute Book. The professional agitator undoubtedly does exist here. His technique is simple. He merely exploits whatever discontent there may be among workers for his own personal ends and reaps a profit from union funds while the workers and their families are deprived of their livelihood for the duration of a strike.

Agitators Technique.

He has a large and very ignorant population to play on, and with unfailing regularity he makes the people his ready dupes. His technique, as aforesaid, is simple.

The agitator organises the workers of some particular industry into some kind of union, instigates them into making impossible large demands for better conditions, gets himself appointed a negotiator, and then, in the role of dishonest broker, sells his followers to the other side. He runs with the hare and hunts with the hounds, just as there are Russians in the espionage service of the Far East who are known to spy with equal impartiality on the doings of both Reds and Whites and get paid by both sides for their labours.

It comes, in effect, to black mail, which employers have paid as being infinitely cheaper than the loss entailed in a prolonged strike. The Telephone Company has refused to be black mailed and all are wishing more power to its blow.

Credulous Chinese.

But this is not the most distinctive or disquieting feature of Chinese labour troubles. That lies in the ease with which the workers can be incited — not necessarily consciously — to use the strike weapon for furthering the private political ends of their mentors. By their habit of pandering to labour for political motives, their willingness to use labour as a political weapon, these men are only creating, in fact, a rod for their own backs. It will be the story of the students all over again.

The forces that are used against others can be as easily used, and will be used, against the powers that be. Robespierre and Danton met with their downfall by the instruments of their own creation. It is taking Nanking a long time to appreciate the lesson of this incontrovertible historical fact.

The Hardoon Case.

Apart from strikes and politics, Shanghai has been following with not a little interest the legal battle for the possession of the Hardoon millions in H.M. Supreme Court. Day after day has been spent in the spinning of long, legal arguments relative to questions of what constitutes legal marriage, domicile, status of British subjects and British protected citizens, rights of succession to property under Jewish and Iraqi laws, etc., etc.

This is not the place to comment on the merits or demerits of the respective parties involved in a case which is sub judice. That is better left to the Court to determine. But it would be permissible and not uninteresting to give a sketchy pen portrait of the late Mr. Silas Aaron Hardoon, whose vast wealth is the subject-matter of the present dispute.

Romantic Career.

The late Mr. Hardoon started life in a small way as a godown keeper for one of the Sassoon firms and he himself used to say that his first earnings were only $25 per month. The sight of opium chests being moved in and out of Sassoon godowns was a familiar one to him. He dabbled a little on his own in that business, with profit to himself. He made on these little transactions and then became interested in property. Everything he had touched from then onward was transformed into gold.

It was his firm belief that Mrs. Hardoon had brought him luck and good fortune and he had always regarded her as his mascot.

When he died, he left an estate which is reliably assessed at anything from £75,000,000 to £100,000,000.

The late Mr. Henry Lester left £75,000,000.

Like Mr. Lester, Mr. Hardoon was an old-fashioned man, dressed simply, was a rough diamond in conversation and disdained to use lifts to reach his office on the fourth floor of his building, preferring to use his legs up to the age of 70. He was a self-made plutocrat.

This is the man round whose will a bitter fight is now raging in the British Supreme Court. The final verdict may be of the national order.

ANCIENT CASTLE TO SERVE AS SCHOOL.

Girls from Abroad to Study German.

SCENES OF ROMANCE.

Meissen, Saxony.

American co-eds soon will be going to classes in romantic old Siebeneichen castle, which is being converted into a college by Baroness Monika von Miltitz, its owner.

Classes began in March, but by next Autumn accommodations will be complete for a maximum number of students.

The curriculum is designed primarily for American women desiring to teach German, but it includes preparatory courses for other professions calling for a knowledge of the German language.

Entrance requirements are at least two years of study in an American university or college. The college is under the personal direction of the Baroness, who has engaged an impressive faculty. Siebeneichen, or "Seven Oaks" castle, is picturesquely situated on an eminence in the countryside near Meissen, where famous Dresden china is made. Dresden is about an hour from Meissen.

The first historical mention of Siebeneichen was made in 1394. The present castle, incorporating remains of an older Gothic one, was built in the 1500's by Ernst von Miltitz, marshal of the Saxon court.

An atmosphere of cloister tranquillity now pervades the old fortress. The grounds where knights once matched their strength in tournaments are a beautiful park of old trees. Ivy creepers cover the walls and the battlements are grass grown.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE AND THE NEXT JAMBOREE.

Leader Appointed.

Very definite steps are being taken to ensure the adequate representation of Great Britain at the next World Jamboree, to be held at Goddollo in Hungary in 1933.

A Committee has been appointed to deal with the matter, consisting of Mr. Hubert Martin, C.B.E., the International Commissioner, Mr. P. D. Power, the Headquarters Commissioner for Scouts, Lieut-Colonel G. Walton, O.B.E., Headquarters Commissioner for Rover Scouts, and Brigadier-General E. G. Godfrey-Faussett, C.B., C.M.G., F.S.A., Headquarters Commissioner for Training. Brig-General Godfrey-Faussett, who is Camp Chief of the great Jamboree at Birkenhead in 1929, was largely responsible for the great success of the Jamboree, has been appointed Leader of the British Contingent at the World Rover Moot at Kanderstek last year.

Tentative accommodation has been asked for five divisions of 625 Scouts from the British Empire, making a total of 3,125. The Scouts will be thoroughly "mixed" both in the divisions and in the camp. Several areas will send more than one Troop of 35 Scouts and these will be distributed among different divisions. The divisions will again be placed in separate sub-camps. Thus the Hungarian Scout's desire that there should be good fellowship between the various national contingents will be greatly helped. The areas which are entitled to send more than one complete Troop are London, 7; Scotland, 6; Yorkshire, West Riding, 4; S.E. Lancashire, 3; Kent, Wales, S.W. Lancashire and Surrey, 2 each. There will be several more areas with additional Patrols.

One Rover Crew, of the standard organisation of 35, will be formed in each division to be at the disposal of the Leader of the division for such light services as may be required. This will give a total of about 180 Rover Scouts, which is the fair proportion to the total number.

The Hungarian Headquarters have told their Scouts, "If you are going to accept the privileges of being a Scout, you must accept the responsibilities as well." Therefore the Boy Scouts of Hungary are busy learning languages so that no single individual shall feel anything like a foreigner. Besides English and French, which is not compulsory, some more words of German, Italian, Spanish, and Dutch are being taught. They are also being taught the history of the Scout movement and the story of the Scout's life.

At the latter date the towns had been completely destroyed by fire and the site had never been reconquered. Traces of violent conquests were found, layers of ashes succeeded by mud and debris. Bones and flint implements were found over all the site. One hundred bone needles or pins, and a bone of a fish have been found together with interred objects. On the plain below the hill on which these cities stood there is a curious rock formation. It is a high, steep, and jagged rock, which is the remains of a volcano. The volcano was active in the time of the Roman Empire, and it was the lava flows from it which destroyed the cities. The volcano is now extinct, but the lava flows are still visible in the form of a high, steep, and jagged rock formation.

ONE IN SIX ARE DIVORCED.

Marriage Statistic in America.

4TH YEAR THE WORST.

Depression Reduces Number of Divorces.

The fourth year of marriage is the most common for divorce. This, at any rate, is one of the statements contained in a "Statistical Analysis of American Divorce," just published by the Columbia University Press.

It declares that divorce in the United States declined slightly in the "depression years"—1930 and 1931—from the 201,468 total in the "boom" year 1929.

At the 1929 rate, one divorce every two minutes was granted in the country. The decline in 1930 was 10,000 cases, states the monograph. Complete figures are not available for 1931.

One in Six. More than one in every six American marriages ends in divorce directly affecting more than 500,000 men, women, and children every year. This country had the highest divorce rate in the world, and has had for a hundred years. The fourth year of marriage was found the most common for divorce.

In addition, the writer states that desertion, popularly known as "the poor man's divorce," rivals divorce in frequency of occurrence.

From 1867 to 1929 divorces increased about 2,000 per cent. in the United States, while the population grew approximately 300 per cent. and marriages around 400 per cent. says the survey, which covers the Government divorce records from the Civil War to the present time. The increase over the period has been from a total of about 10,000 in 1867.

Drink and Desertion.

At that rate of increase, the writer estimates that by 1965, 51 per cent. of American marriages will be ending in divorce.

Desertion and drunkenness are given as the major causes for divorce. Of the 9 per cent. of wronged wives who demanded alimony about 6 per cent. obtained it in the period under review.

SODOM AND GOMORRAH.

Pillar That May Be Lot's Wife.

London.

Sodom and Gomorrah were utterly destroyed by a rain of fire and brimstone because of their great wickedness, according to the Biblical story. Recent archaeological excavations on the site of these twin cities by the shores of the Dead Sea in Palestine, which have been made by Father Mallon of the Biblical Pontifical Institute of Jerusalem, have confirmed this account in striking fashion.

The whole four "cities of the plain" have now been identified, and the site is dominated by Mount Nebo, from which Moses viewed the Promised Land. In a new report on this season's work is stated that undoubted evidence has been found that "two sister towns stood side by side."

"Examination has shown that these two towns were contemporary for each other the same civilisation. The pottery found belongs to the two periods: Neolithic and Early Bronze, and would thus fix the limits of occupation from prior to 2,500 B.C. down to not later than 2,100 B.C."

Completely Destroyed. At the latter date the towns had been completely destroyed by fire and the site had never been reconquered. Traces of violent conquests were found, layers of ashes succeeded by mud and debris. Bones and flint implements were found over all the site. One hundred bone needles or pins, and a bone of a fish have been found together with interred objects. On the plain below the hill on which these cities stood there is a curious rock formation. It is a high, steep, and jagged rock, which is the remains of a volcano. The volcano was active in the time of the Roman Empire, and it was the lava flows from it which destroyed the cities. The volcano is now extinct, but the lava flows are still visible in the form of a high, steep, and jagged rock formation.

WOMAN PRISON CHIEF.

Woman Director of Gaols.

WOMAN DIRECTOR OF GAOLS.

London, May 27.

Senorita Victoria Kent, the woman director of Spanish prisons, who is of British descent, denied to-day that she is resigning her post.

It had been reported that her resignation followed a storm of criticism that she was "too tender" to the prisoners; but over the telephone to-day Senorita Kent said to an Evening Standard representative:—

"My humanitarian methods do not please everyone, and naturally there are people who would welcome my resignation. But at the moment I have not taken the step, and I see no prospect of my doing so in the immediate future."

"I have instituted many prison reforms which are at the moment the subject of considerable criticism; but I think I have the backing of the majority of the people, who feel that we are more likely to reform prisoners by humane treatment than by brutality."

Rebuilding Prisons.

"I have been trying to raise money to sweep away the old insanitary prison system and rebuild it on a scientific basis."

"I have not been too gentle with the prisoners. I can be firm and extremely energetic when I want." Senorita Kent is Irish by birth and a niece of Mr. R. Kent, member of the Irish Free State Parliament for East Cork. Two of her uncles were killed during the 1916 fighting in Ireland.

A few months ago Senorita Kent's policy was blamed for an outbreak in Madrid gaol, where prisoners demanded that their meals should be cooked by a first-class chef. She was the first woman to practise law in Spain.

MISS BETH BERI.

Dancer at the King's Theatre.

Miss Beth Beri, who is opening a limited engagement at the King's Theatre on Sunday, June 26, is one of the most widely known dancers, not only in America but throughout the capitals of Europe.

During her last tour of the Continent, Miss Beri appeared at the Coliseum, the Kit Kat Club and at the Piccadilly in London, where she was repeatedly asked to extend her engagements there. In Rome the danseuse was requested to make a special appearance before Crown Prince Umberto.

Dancing since she was thirteen years of age, Miss Beri had the leading roles in "Ziegfeld's Follies" three consecutive seasons on Broadway in New York, starring with Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots." In addition, the dancer played the leading role in the popular "Rose Marie."

Miss Beri is bringing to Hong Kong a brilliant repertoire of unusually wide range, the numbers of which will include the native dances of Spain and Hungary, the lighter, rumbas of old Cuba, and several captivating interpretations of her own compositions. Of these, her "Fan Dance" is one of the most appealing, the soft grace and rhythm of the dance being heightened by the sweep of a superb fan—the largest ever carried by a dancer.

LATE PRESIDENT DOUMER.

Was a Great Lover of Books.

Paris.

President Doumer, whose assassination has caused national grief and indignation, had a passion for books. It was while attending a book bazaar that he was shot. He was attending it for two reasons. In the first place the authors represented were mostly ex-combatants, and no ex-soldier ever appeared in vain to the sympathy of President Doumer, who himself lost four sons in the great conflict. Secondly, M. Doumer always loved to browse about bookshops, for he was an omnivorous reader.

He liked nothing better than to be able to escape occasionally from the official hedge of publicity and the protocol which surrounded him and to wander, as Anatole France used to do, among the bookstalls and bookshops of the Left Bank. One who saw him on one of these expeditions before he reached the highest office said that anyone would recognize him on sight as a real book-lover, as one who got a thrill out of the very feel of a book as he ran his fingers over the edges of the pages before settling down to reading.

M. Doumer proved a strong supporter of the Book Day movement, the object of which is to popularize book-buying. It has been noticed that many people who might be expected to buy new books often hesitate in front of a bookseller's window not wishing to enter and examine the wares before deciding upon a particular work. This has not made much difference to authors of established reputation but it has proved a serious drawback to unknown writers who have not had sufficient chance to tempt potential readers.

In the book bazaar new books by known and unknown authors are displayed on stalls, so that anyone may examine them without feeling under obligation to buy. The market place idea has been adapted to the sale of literature, and it is reported with striking success.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

President Reviews a Period of Difficulty.

DROP IN REVENUE.

The following is a summary of an address delivered by Mr. Ken-kichi Kagami, President of the N.Y.K. at the shareholders' semi-annual Ordinary General Meeting held at Tokyo, on May 27.

The President in the chair, in support of the Directors' statement of accounts, etc. for the half-year ending the March 31st, 1932 said, in part, that the Company's business for the half-year under review had, to his regret, once more severely suffered from the lack of revenue resulting in a net loss of Y.91,000. Upon the surplus amount brought forward from the previous account, viz. Y.454,000, being balanced with this loss, there was left Y.363,000 which amount the Directors proposed should be carried to the next account.

On the other hand, the President said he felt somewhat consoled by the fact that there was a considerable saving in the amount of disbursements during the term under review, viz. to the extent of Y.1,390,000 compared with the previous term and Y.3,580,000 compared with the corresponding term of the previous year. The amount written off from the book value of ships and other property and for various reserves was as much as Y.5,530,000. The decrease in disbursements was due in great measure to the strict exercise of economy on the part of the staff on shore and afloat, in faithful observance of the standing instructions, which fact was highly appreciated.

Revenue Loss.

The accelerated falling-off of the revenue was due, needless to say, to the present world-wide depression, which was indeed going from bad to worse; but, as the N.Y.K.
was particularly concerned during the term under review, the President remarked, the suspension in September last of the gold standard by Britain, which caused violent fluctuations in the exchange rate, resulted in a considerable loss of freight earnings in yen, such a state, however, being partially compensated for by the stoppage of the gold standard by Japan in December.

The situation was accentuated by the unfortunate affairs in China, which brought about a temporary suspension of our trade with her, inflicting a severe setback to the time-honoured Shanghai service of the N.Y.K. All these events could not fail seriously to aggravate the already dwindling condition of the Company's earnings.

Great credit was due to the captains, officers and men of the N.Y.K.
ships, who, during the crisis in Shanghai, rendered such valuable and efficient services, manifesting their courage and devotion to duty, by going backward and forward between Japanese ports and Shanghai, navigating through the danger zone off and around Woosung. Especially the Shanghai express service ships, the Nagasaki-maru and the Shanghai-maru, assisted by numerous N.Y.K. vessels, gave worthy services in bringing home to Japan refugees numbering no less than 12,000, under many difficulties, to the satisfaction of all concerned.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

The B.I. s.s. Sirdhana left Singapore for this port on June 23, and is due here on June 28.

CONSIGNEES' NOTICE.

Consignees of cargo ex s.s. Ben-crucian are reminded to take delivery of their goods which will be subject to rent after June 27.

"LIFT" FOR 1,000-TON SHIPS.

Device on German Canal
Brought Up to Date.

Berlin, May 15.
Near Berlin a striking engineering work is nearing completion—a "lift for ships" at Niederlenow.
The idea itself is not new—nearly 100 years ago barges of eight tons burden were being raised, and lowered in two wooden troughs of the canal. The lift is to raise ships of 1,000 tons burthen.
At Niederlenow the Hohenzol-lern Canal joins the Oder, and thus forms the important Berlin-Stettin waterway, which carries some 2,000,000 tons of shipping a year. The canal runs 110ft. higher than the river valley, and this descent has been made in the past by means of four locks, the passage of each of which took more than two hours. Ships sometimes had to await their turn for a day or more, and repairs to a lock meant closing the waterway. The "lift" will raise or lower ships of 1,000 tons from one level to the other in 20 minutes. The massive structure is in three parts: the great metal framework, in which the lift is housed, the lift itself, a great trough nearly 100 yards long and 45 feet broad, suspended from 256 armthick steel cables, with 192 22-ton counter-weights which will lift more than 4,000 tons; and a bridge connecting the structure at the higher level with the canal. The trough is filled with water, the ship moves in, and the whole is then raised or lowered at six in a second by means of four 75-hp. motors.

The construction has taken about six years, and the final cost is estimated at about 24,000,000 marks (£12,000,000 gold).

To Cross Yangtze British-Built Train Ferry for China

Service Between Nanking and Pukow

An order has been placed with the well-known shipbuilding firm of Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, Ltd., of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, for the construction of a twin-screw train ferry steamer designed to carry passenger and freight trains across the Yangtze River between Nanking and Pukow. The negotiations in China were carried out by Malcolm and Co., Ltd., of Shanghai, acting as agents for the shipbuilders.

The ship and propelling machinery will be built at their Neptune Works, Walker, under the supervision of Sir John H. Biles and Co., of London.

The principal dimensions are about 371 ft. overall, an extreme breadth of 58½ ft. with three clear lengths of car track each 300 ft. long on the upper deck. The ship is designed to carry a total live load of about 1,200 tons, and a total dead-weight of almost 1,600 tons.

The hull and machinery will be built under special survey, and in accordance with Lloyd's requirements.

The cars will be shipped from the forward end, and accommodated on three lines of rails on the upper deck, taking in all three trains each of seven wagons, a total of 21 wagons. The shunting of the wagons will be by means of a locomotive carried on a platform at the after end of the upper deck in conjunction with traversing gear, by means of which the locomotive may be moved horizontally across the deck to enable it to operate on any of the three lines of rails. At the after end of this deck, and in line with each car track, substantial buffers will be built.

Propelling Machinery.

The forward end of the upper deck will be recessed in an athwart-ship direction to receive a hinged apron, which, in its working position, will be flush with the upper deck, connecting the railway track on the shore with the three lines of tracks on the deck of the ferry.

To facilitate berthing there is, in addition to the after steering arrangements, a bow rudder with its independent steam steering gear for use in manoeuvring in and out of the berthed positions.

The propelling machinery is amidships with the casings arranged at the sides of the upper deck, and a coal bunker arranged in a recess between the two boilers. The hull is exceptionally well subdivided by watertight bulkheads extending to the height of the upper deck.

Feed water will be carried in a cellular double-bottom tank under the engines. The forward and after peaks will be arranged for water ballast, and, in addition, there will be deep tanks for trimming both forward and aft, and heeling tanks on the port and starboard sides amidships.

Substantial fenders are fitted at the level of the upper deck, and similar fenders are carried round the bow and stern.

The navigating bridge is mounted at a level giving a commanding view above the trains, and extends the full width of the ship, and the captain's accommodation is fitted on the bridge.

The accommodation for the officers, engineers and crew is arranged on a steel lower deck or flat aft of the engine room.

A shelter is provided on the lower deck forward for passengers' use.

Deck Machinery.

The deck machinery includes steam steering gears of the Wilson Pirrie type both forward and aft, both gears controlled by telemotor from the navigating bridge, two steam capstan windlasses forward, two warping capstans aft, steam-driven traversing gear, electric lighting throughout the ship, including flood lights for the car deck, and steam heating throughout the living accommodation.

The twin propelling engines will be of the three cylinder, triple-expansion, surface-condensing type, with independent air, circulating, feed and bilge pumps, together with the usual ballast, general service and other auxiliaries.

Steam will be supplied by two single-ended Scotch boilers, burning Chinese coal, with Howden's system of forced draught. The boilers will be arranged in separate stokeholds, one port and one starboard, with separate uptakes and separate funnels, this arrangement being necessary in order to give a clear space in the centre of the ship for the trains.

Making A Book Trough.

This simple book trough is made from four pieces of wood three-eighths of an inch thick. Oak is best if you can obtain it. The two ends for the trough are cut from one piece of wood measuring ten and a half inches long by five and a half inches wide. Plane this on both sides and then, with a pair of compasses set to a radius of five inches, scribe a half-circle as shown in diagram A. Through the point from which the half-circle was struck, mark the base line B and also the centre line C! then plane the bottom edge of the wood to the base line. Cut round the curved line with a pad-saw, smooth the edge with a chisel, and finish with glass-paper. On one half of the wood set out the positions of the slots D, D, and cut them out with tenon saw and chisel.

Now saw through on the centre line C and plane the two edges square. Lay the finished sides on the other, mark the slots, and cut them out. While doing this part of the work, it is a good plan to clamp the two pieces together, so that the slots will exactly register.

STORY OF THE WALLFLOWER.

This happened a long time ago when there were dragons about and people were changed into all sorts of things when they least expected it. They were uncomfortable days for some people, and thrilling for others, as you will see.

At the time there lived a beautiful maiden who had lovely dark red hair. She had a cruel dragon of a guardian, who did not wish her to marry a certain young man who was very fond of her, so he shut her up in his mansion and only allowed her to walk in the garden.

Now the garden was very beautiful, but it was surrounded by a high wall, so the maiden could see nothing of the outside world, and she was very sad. Day after day she used to walk close to the wall, longing to see over the top. And then one day she heard a voice singing on the other side, and she knew it was that of the young man who wanted to marry her.

"I am here on the other side of the wall," she whispered. "Climb over the top, and I will set a horse, and we will ride away and be married," he said. "Come at once—quickly!"

"Oh, I don't believe I can!" replied the maiden.

"Yes, you can if you try," replied the young man. "I will go for a horse."

The maiden looked fearfully at the high wall, but at last she tried to scramble up. It was very difficult, but after a time she reached the top. Then she saw the young man standing there, and she was so glad that she forgot to be afraid.

"How lovely!" she cried. "Now I can see the world!" People recognised her by the lovely colour of her hair, and she was called Wallflower ever since because she loves the top of a wall better than any other place.

(Continued from previous Column.) porting the books eleven and a half inches long and three inches wide, and plane them on both sides. When finished, they should be just thick enough to fit nicely in the slots D, D. Both rails have a slot near each end, one inch long and three-eighths of an inch wide, as shown in diagram E.

Make sure that the parts fit perfectly, then apply a little hot glue inside all the slots before finally pressing the rails in place. If made to the sizes given, the trough will hold about one dozen small books.

If oak has been used the trough can be stained and polished; if ordinary white wood, it should be coated with varnish stain.

WENDY'S LITTLE NEEDLEWOMEN.

Making A Chinese Doll.

One or two Wendy girls have been invited to give dolls for a toy-stall at a bazaar, and they have asked us how they can make different kinds of dolls.

This week we'll see how to manufacture a Chinese baby-doll. A yellow or light brown stocking will do for the body, and you'll want a little bit of bright blue cotton material for the dress. As shown in Diagram A, the doll is made in six pieces—head, body, arms and legs.

For the head, cut from the stocking a circle about five inches across, run a gathering-thread round the edge, stuff with kapok, and pull up. By the way, you can get a big box of kapok enough for filling two or three dolls, for one shilling; if you like, you can just stuff the head and limbs with this, and use tiny pieces of rag for the body. Embroider the features in wool, making the face look as Chinese as possible.

Here is the jolly Chinese doll about which Dress-maker tells you to-day. Make one like it for your Bazaar stall.

Now cut a strip of stocking for the body, five inches long and seven inches wide. Join the sides, gather up the top end to form a bag, fill with stuffing, and sew up the other end. Join the body to the head and hide the stitches later with a string of gay beads. Make four little stuffed tubes for the limbs, each one from a strip of material four inches long and three-and-a-half inches wide, and attach them firmly to the body.

The trousers are made from two pieces of blue cotton, each six inches wide and five inches long. Lay them together, then fold, and cut according to Diagram B. Sew up the side seams and inner leg seams, sew hems round the leg edges, and make a casing round the top through which you can thread a piece of elastic.

The jumper it cut like Diagram C, from a bit of material ten inches wide and eighteen inches long. Fold in half lengthways and widthways, and cut it out. Sew up the sides, hem the edges of sleeves and round the bottom, and make a little casing round the top for a draw-string. You must embroider the jumper and trousers with red, yellow and green thread. Diagram D shows you the simple stitches.

Black wool hair with red flower pinned on one side will complete the Chinese baby, unless you like to make her wee shoes from folded strips of braid, sewn over her stumpy toes!

Next week we'll make a Peasant Doll, so look out for her!

Wendy's Dressmaker.

WENDY'S LITTLE COOKS.

Real Lemon Jelly.

Take two tablespoonsful of granulated gelatine, and soak it for five minutes in one cupful of cold water. Now dissolve the gelatine in two and a half cupsful of boiling water; add one cupful of castor sugar, and half a cupful of lemon juice. When the sugar has dissolved, strain the mixture through a piece of muslin, and pour it into a mould which has been rinsed in cold water. When quite cold, turn the jelly into a glass dish and decorate it with whipped cream. A star made of pieces of candied citron peel looks very pretty on the top.

"And one day who should come walking through the gateway but the white hen herself!"

years old, and Florida could not bear to see her little friends lying on a bed of dried fern and looking so pale. Even the King came to see Nesta, and he touched her with his royal hand, but his touch did not cure her. "Because I am under the yoke of the Romans, my power has gone," he said bitterly. "I must give my white hen," thought Florida. "There is nothing else to do." So she went to Nesta's room, put her pretty white hen down on the floor, and shut the door.

"My white hen will take the illness from Nesta," she said to her friend's mother. "Have you forgotten that birds and animals can take away disease? My white hen is my best friend next to Nesta, and she will do this for me."

"I had forgotten," murmured Nesta's mother.

For three days they left the little white hen with Nesta, and on the fourth day the girl was much better.

"Florida, take your hen away quickly!" cried Nesta's mother. "Get rid of it at once!"

"Nesta is cured," thought Florida, as she ran out of the palace with her hen under her arm. "But how can I part with you, my little white hen?"

She did not know how to get rid of the hen who had taken away Nesta's illness, and was now considered infectious. Then suddenly she had an idea. She would let it go free in the Roman town. The Romans would catch the illness, but that did not matter. So she kissed her white hen, thanked it tenderly, left it in the Roman town, and ran away.

She told Nesta that she did not mind very much, but both were rather unhappy. When Nesta was able to walk in the sunshine, she missed the white hen sadly, while Florida wondered if the Romans had eaten walking through the gateway but the white hen herself!

"Look how well she is!" cried Florida. "She has left the illness with the Romans and come back to me. Oh, my lovely little white hen, I'm so happy!"

A BUTTERFLY THAT SWIMS.

Among the many curious fish in the sea, the butterfly fisher, to give it its proper name, the Cypselurus furcatus—is the most beautiful. It is to be found in the Pacific Ocean, close to the Cocos Island, and it measures not more than three inches in length though it has a fin-span of about four inches.

Although not a flyer like the flying-fish, this creature closely resembles a pretty butterfly; for its fins are shaped like wings and are gloriously coloured. Even the tiny tail is coloured, and the body is a delicate shell-pink with splashes of orange near the tail.

In direct contrast to the beautiful butterfly fish is the "Inside-Out" fish or the Sternopygus, which has part of its skeleton outside its skin, and is really one of the most hideous swimming things in the mighty ocean!

Aren't you SORRY you haven't a butterfly fish in your pond, and aren't you GLAD you haven't an "Inside-Out" fish?

YOUR "GOOD TURN"

Opportunities That May Arise.

A Scout sends me the following on "Good Turn." Scouts should read it for themselves, as it is very much to the point.

In Hong Kong, either the opportunity to do "good turns" does not present itself, as at home, or the Scout performs them quietly yet effectively (as he should) so that we do not notice them.

At one Rally held in Kowloon, each Troop had to send its team out for ten or twenty minutes, then return and report. Points were included for "good turns" performed. One team concentrated (to the amusement and amazement of the workers) at the Kowloon Gardens, rendering assistance to the trolley-men: afterwards assisting with the chopping of firewood, and finally assisting in the carrying of furniture to the top floor of a dwelling.

For the occasion, these were undoubtedly good turns, and shows possibilities, but imagine a lone scout, pushing a trolley loaded with rice sacks, in his sincere endeavours! He would probably prove himself a hindrance. If a scout thinks the opportunity to do his good turn does not come his way, he can do no better than do it to his troop—for his association—for his brotherhood. A chain is only as strong as the weakest link (as an observant scout remarked on the ferry) and if each individual scout sees to it that he is not the weakest link—there lies his opportunity to do his "good turn," by loyalty and adherence to the Scout Law.

Don't confuse "good turns" with duty—there must be the sacrifice. The old argument comes in here: If when walking along the street you just pick up the gutter a banana skin, to prevent some unfortunate slipping up—this is not a good turn—if on the other hand, you are in a desperate hurry to catch a ferry, and stop and remove the banana skin—then it is a "good turn" well done. Other cases could be quoted but this just explains the points of duty and sacrifice.

CATHOLIC GROUP.

Enjoyable Visit to Regional Seminary.

On Sunday, June 19, in spite of the inclement weather, 35 Scouts of the 2nd H.K. Catholic Group of Boy Scouts, with smiles and adventure on their faces ventured to Aberdeen.

They arrived at Aberdeen at 11 o'clock embarking on the "Armadas" of Aberdeen, like the ancient pirates on their lusty quest. Sailing loftily they arrived at their Treasure Island, which however proved to be a sort of a Peninsula.

At the gates of the Regional Seminary the Scouts were welcomed by Rev. Frs. Kennedy and Gallahar who kindly gave their full facilities to make their visit an enjoyable one.

Swimming and Diving.

They had a swim and made good use of the diving-board. Full justice was done to the refreshments provided by the Fathers, while the Scoutmaster (Mr. D. W. Luke) had tiffin with them.

Most of the Scouts took the opportunity of passing the 2nd-class cooking Tests and also practised for the 1st-class cooking.

Father Finn kindly showed the Scoutmaster a fine collection of ancient vases, bowls, stone-spears, etc., of the Han and Chow Dynasties. He carefully explained the collection in detail.

After a volley-ball match and a rest they had a last dip and changed into uniform. They returned in time arriving at town safe and sound.

The trip to Aberdeen proved a very enjoyable picnic for all as at the same time it was very instructive. The boys learned a great deal of interesting facts en route.

The Regional Seminary is a nice and imposing building of Chinese design. And the British Jesuit Fathers in charge are very kind and interested in Scouting. Many thanks are due to them for their hospitality. It is hoped that another visit will be made soon. This Sunday there will be lectures on different scouting subjects.

Training Course.

The Scouters' Training course is in full swing at Scout Headquarters. This Monday, at 8.30 p.m. Mr. C. G. Pockson will give a talk on "Pioneering."

Halward (Assistant Commissioner for Training). It is essential that all boys entering should report on the first day, Tuesday. Entries must be in before July 2. Evidence of each boy's training, regular body exercises, and correct weight is to be forwarded with each entry.

Patrols Standing in Competition.

Patrol Competition: In the Barnes Cup Competition the Kangaroos are leading by three points to date. The position stands as follows: Kangaroos: 227; Lions: 224; Swifts: 188; Eagles: 184.

Public Health: St. Andrew's Troop have a few boys working for this badge, and Mr. J. I. Barnes has kindly consented to give his assistance in this most important subject.

Rescuer's Badge: Also claims the attention of the troop. It was hoped to have had practice on last Sunday afternoon at Tai Wan, but owing to the weather it was postponed.

First Class Swimming and Swimmer's Badge. As soon as an examiner is available there are a number of boys most anxious to obtain First Class Badges before the Troop birthday celebrations in September.

Rope spinning is in evidence in the Troop. It is that this will be included in the display in September when the troop celebrates its birthday? P. L. Fred Wong is slowly getting the knack of it. Mr. Pockson is the local expert, while Robert Chan, of the Sea Scouts has mastered the art well.

ROUND HONG KONG'S CINEMA THEATRES

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"FRANKENSTEIN."

Scientists, philosophers and medical men have for centuries struggled with the most pertinent fact of life. That fact is life itself. When Carl Laemmle, Jr., and James Whale, who produced and directed "Frankenstein," which will be seen at the Central Theatre to-day were utterly absorbed in the preparation of the story, they discovered to their amazement that there were many men of science living to-day who thoroughly believed that in the future, life can be created.

"During their researches they called in Dr. Cecil Reynolds, the famous alienist of the notorious Hickman murder trial in Los Angeles. He is an internationally recognized psychiatrist and brain surgeon. He acted as guest adviser to James Whale during the filming of "Frankenstein."

Naturally, "Frankenstein" was made as a vehicle for theatrical entertainment and not to stimulate scientific thought, but we wanted to make absolutely certain that Dr. Frankenstein's methods would conform to medical practice and the methods which have been, are, and will be used for years in the laboratories of the world to produce this one supreme miracle—the creation of life.

"SHE COULDN'T SAY NO."

"She Couldn't Say No" a musical screen drama that is a distinct novelty, opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre. It is a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production featuring Winnie Lightner, one of the most entertaining of the talking screen's comedienne, and Chester Morris, who made an immediate hit with his first movie appearance in "Alibi."

Miss Lightner is indeed entertaining in these scenes when she is singing for the club patrons.

Chester Morris is excellent in the role of the young racketeer who reforms under the guidance and love of Winnie and then breaks her heart by falling in love with a pretty society flapper.

Sally Eilers, Tully Marshall and Johnny Arthur are the other principal members of the cast. They all give fine performances.

"SKIN DEEP."

"Skin Deep" is a story of life in the raw—Monte Blue is the star, and the show opens at the Queen's Theatre to-morrow.

The denizens of gangland are revealed very humanly. Their reactions to their environment are shown with authenticity.

It is shown that these outcasts of society have impulses much the same as those of other classes of society with which they are at war. The result is a series of gripping situations which holds the interest of the audience from the first to the final word.

Under the direction of Ray Enright "Skin Deep" becomes a masterpiece.

In addition to Monte Blue, the cast includes Davey Lee, Betty Compson, Alice Day, John Robertson, Tully Marshall, John Bowers, George Stone and Robert Perry.

"24 HOURS."

The novel is closer to the screen than the stage, according to Louis Bromfield, a Pulitzer Prize winner, whose best-selling novel and magazine serial, "24 Hours," has been dramatized by Paramount and is now showing at the King's Theatre.

Bromfield made this statement on his last visit to Hollywood before the publication of "24 Hours." At that time, in commenting on Hollywood, he named Lilyan Tashman, Kay Francis and John Crawford as three of his favourite actresses.

Slide then, Miss Tashman has become a Paramount featured player, and Miss Francis is featured in his mystery story of modern New York life.

"24 Hours" reveals how husbands, wives and lovers are abruptly brought to their senses, amid a madhouse of a city setting, when the survivors of a vicious fatal crash are incriminated for the death of one of their loved ones.

DAIREN CUSTOMS CHIEF.

Dismissed for Insubordination

Shanghai, Yesterday. It has been officially announced that Sir Frederick Maze with the approval of Mr. T. V. Soong, has dismissed Mr. Fukumoto, Commissioner of Customs at Dairen, for gross insubordination in having refused to remit the customs funds to Shanghai.

Sir Frederick Maze in a statement declared that if the Customs impasse continued, the service of indemnities and foreign loan obligations secured by the customs would be seriously affected.

Mr. Fukumoto, explaining his refusal to remit the customs funds, telegraphed to Sir Frederick: "Passive attitude is the only possible one for me at the present moment. I myself am convinced, and have also been warned by the responsible Japanese authorities that an open rupture between the Dairen Customs and the Manchukuo authorities would be destructive to Japanese interests."

"That I, a Japanese, should be the instrument to bring about such a rupture is intolerable and against my conscience. I hope the Inspector-General will realise the impossibility of my taking such a responsibility upon myself."

Sir Frederick Maze asserts that Mr. Fukumoto's "extraordinary action" is unprecedented in the history of the Chinese Maritime Customs Service.

Chinese Protest Against Japan. Japan's threatened seizure of the Customs revenue of Manchuria "through the puppet State of her own creation," has evoked a strong protest from Chinese Bankers and the Chinese National Chamber of Commerce, who in a joint manifesto declare that if the plan is carried out it will mean the "financial and political disintegration of China."

"We appeal to the leading foreign powers to restrain Japan from committing this folly," it declares. —Reuter.

RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO.

Note of Protest.

Nanking, Yesterday. The Chinese Government under yesterday's date sent identical notes to the representatives in China of the signatory powers of the Nine Power Treaty, urging them to give serious attention to the Japanese Government's plan to accord official recognition to the Manchukuo State, and asks that such steps be immediately taken as will prevent the Japanese Government recognising an "unlawful organisation born of Japanese military action."

The Foreign Ministry is sending two separate protests to Japan, one against the Manchukuo seizure of the postal administration and the other against the interference with the customs administration at Dairen and elsewhere.

The Foreign Office Notes declare that if Japan's reported decision to recognise the Manchukuo Government is implemented, it will constitute a flagrant violation of the Treaty.—Reuter.

DANISH CONTRACT FOR BRITAIN.

$2,000,000 Railway Scheme.

London, Yesterday. A provisional agreement has been made between the Danish Ministry of Public Works and the British engineering firm of Messrs. Dorman Long and Company, for the construction of a railway and bridge across Storstrommen. The cost of the work is estimated at about $2,000,000.

KOWLOON CITY FIRE.

Outbreak at Contractor's Matshed.

Shorely after 11 o'clock last night, a fire broke out at the Hing Chiu Wo Contractors' matshed, at the junction of Prince Edward Road and Tam Kung Road.

The conflagration was extinguished by the Fire Brigade assisted by Police at Kowloon City, and nobody was injured. The damage done is at present unknown.

It is suspected that some unknown person dropped a lighted cigarette end, this starting the fire.

FUNG MURDER REVELATIONS.

Mr. Strellett, addressing his Worship, explained that since the last hearing he had interviewed the prisoner with a view to getting instructions from him. He found some difficulty in understanding what the prisoner wished to say to him, but he thought the gist of it was that he had no desire to be represented at all.

Mr. R. E. Lindsell (Public Prosecutor) appeared for the Crown, and on their behalf asked for a further three days' remand in Police custody.

Remand Imperative. The prisoner had made very important statements and had given very important information in connection with the Fung murder case. Various items in connection with the statements needed clearing up. It was imperative that they hold him in Police custody for three days. In the absence of any request made by the I.G.P., he said, the case against the accused was one for committal.

Mr. Lindsell added that he merely appeared because Mr. Strellett at the last hearing had strongly opposed to Police custody.

Mr. Strellett after explaining that the accused had intimated to him that he had no desire to be represented, said he gathered from his attitude that he considered that to have solicitors was a waste of money. Perhaps he was right, he said.

Mr. Strellett added that the accused's attitude had changed entirely, and he could do nothing more than to withdraw from the case.

His Worship remanded the accused until Tuesday morning in Police custody.

$100 FOR MISS NUTHALL.

Kept Promise Not To Smoke.

London. When Miss Betty Nuthall received a cheque for $100 from her mother on her twenty-first birthday, she was far happier to think that she had carried out her dead father's wishes by refraining from smoking until she came of age than at the value of the gift.

Behind the announcement that Miss Nuthall received the cheque is a story of a father's dislike of smoking and his wish never to see any of his children take up the habit "merely for swank."

Mrs. Stewart Nuthall, Betty's mother, told a reporter how she had decided to carry out her husband's idea with all her six children.

"Shall Have To Find $600." "When Betty was three or four years old," said Mrs. Nuthall, "my husband said he hoped none of his children would take up smoking merely for the fun of it."

"He promised Betty a cheque for $100 if she attained her twenty-first birthday without having smoked. Betty promised readily enough, and now—I have to present her with the cheque. Of course, when the others came along and were old enough to be told about this, they insisted upon coming to similar arrangements, and it looks as if I shall have to find $600 altogether, for none of them smoke."

BRITISH SUCCESSES AT WIMBLEDON.

scope for the execution of her powerful drive. At all times she peppered the French player's weak backhand.

Betty Nuthall Off Form. Betty Nuthall caused no little anxiety in her match against Sarah Palfrey. She did not display the same all-conquering form which gave her a triumphant march through the first three rounds.

Helen Jacobs and Fraulein Krahwinkel, last year's finalist, both gained easy victories to pass into the last eight.

Results as cabled by Reuter were as follow:—

Men's Singles—Fourth Round. Ellsworth Vines (U.S.A.) beat T. Aoki (Japan) 6-2, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Jiro Satoh (Japan) beat Hans Timmer (Holland) 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

H. W. Austin (Britain) beat Paul Feret (France) 6-4, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Ladies' Singles—Fourth Round. Betty Nuthall (Britain) beat Sarah Palfrey (U.S.A.) 8-6, 9-7.

Helen Jacobs (U.S.A.) beat Mrs. Jameson (Britain) 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Wills-Moody (U.S.A.) beat Mrs. Godfree (Britain) 6-3, 6-0.

Dorothy Round (Britain) beat Mlle. Metaxa (France) 6-1, 6-3.

Fraulein Krahwinkel (Germany) beat Mrs. James (Britain) 6-4, 8-2.
